A wide-angle photograph of a rural landscape during sunset. In the foreground, there's a grassy field with some patches of brown earth. A massive, dark blue plastic sheet or tarpaulin is spread across a large mound of dark, crumbly material, likely animal manure or compost, which sits atop a hill. The background features a range of hills under a sky filled with large, billowing clouds colored in shades of orange, yellow, and grey. Power lines are visible across the sky.
